WAR AT AZUSA.

Dark Lanterns and Shotguns at Midnight.

"The Times" War Correspondent on the Battle Field.

How a Brave Officer Prevented a Bloody Fight.

A Number of Arrests Made--But no one Hurt--A Second War Correspondent puts in an Appearance and gets a "Fill."

At about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, the TIMES war correspondent, while in East Los Angeles, noticed a four-horse rig standing under the thick hedge near the electric-light mast on the corner of Daly streets, and seeing shortly afterwards a number of the detectives of the Pacific Coast agency loading some shovels, picks and provisions into the wagon, determined to stand by and see what these preparations meant. Presently the men, having stowed away the tools and provender, jumped into the wagon themselves, and Mr. Lucas, the manager of the agency, spoke a few words of instructions to them. It was then plain to the scribe that some fun was going on at a distant point, and despite the objections raised by the other occupants of the wagon, he also took a seat on the inside and started off at a rattling pace toward the Azusa.

The wagon contained ten as good, strong, likely looking men as a person will meet in a day's march, and at the head of these was A. W. Marsh, a well-known detective, whose fame as a catcher of criminals is familiar to all frontiersmen. The men apparently had no knowledge of the business they were engaged in, but were content to go where their Chief sent them, having unbounded confidence in his word.

Shortly after the crowd got under way the rain began to fall and the mysterious character of the business on hand having made the men all silent, each being occupied with his own theory as to the service expected, made the whole business appear singularly uncanny, although not a word of complaint was heard even from the boys who were wet through by the rain. Upon arriving at Pasadena, the driver made a detour to avoid passing through any of the principal streets of the town, and it was on leaving this place behind that the occupants of the wagon got the first glimmering of the fact that the errand they were bound on was not of pleasure alone, but had such a strong element of doubt in it as to make some of the pick and shovel men feel and talk as if they would rather the business was in the hands of others than themselves. The first hint of the nature of the affair was given to the boys by the driver asking a question as to what time they expected him to arrive at the Azusa, and the answer from Mr. Marsh that the owner of the outfit had agreed to reach there in three hours from the time of starting.

This rather broke the ice, and when about half the distance had been covered Marsh told the men just about what was expected of them, and insisted that no loud conversation should be indulged in for the remainder of the trip. Hour after hour was then passed in almost perfect silence, the oppressive quietness of the night being broken only by the wild and forlorn cursing of the Dutch driver when at the expiration of about every half an hour he discovered that he had once more lost his way, and the solemn gurgle of something running from a bottle held for a few seconds successively by each of the party.

It was near midnight when the driver once more announced in an excitable manner that he had missed the road, and the leader of the party had just stepped from the conveyance to reconnoiter, when a low, cautious whistle was heard and the two or three shovelers who had left the vehicle tumbled back again into their seats with more alacrity than grace. In a moment the circular reflector of a dark lantern was thrown on the wagon and from out the hedge by the roadside three dark forms of men emerged and commanded the driver to halt. The driver obeyed in very short order and it was then discovered that the three newcomers were men who had been sent on during the early part of the day to arrange matters so that there would be no interference with the work on hand.

These three men had a whispered council together with Mr. Marsh, and then Marsh in a commanding voice told each man to take hold of either shovel or pick and to follow him on foot without the least noise. Never did thirteen men tread more softly than these men, and they had nearly passed the dim outlines of a house close by the path they were taking, when one of the party stepped on a dry stick which snapped so loudly to their affrighted ears as to make them think it was a pistol shot fired from the dark orchard which surrounded the house and through which they were then passing. While no person seemed to be aroused in the house by the noise of the snapping twig, a large flannel-mouth dog had to take alarm and to commence to bark louder than any canine ever barked before. Just at that moment the war correspondent wished that he had left the mystery for some other fellow, and would have in all probability turned and ran for it, as at least two others in the party seriously contemplated doing, were it not for the fact that two of the biggest and most bloodthirsty detectives were bringing up the rear and an assortment of firearms which might under the circumstances go off with the scribe and those of the party who felt like returning to town.

The march in Indian file was continued over the most villainous rough paths, after leaving the smooth turf of the orchard, until about half a mile had been reached, when a halt was called, and the light from the lanterns was thrown upon a hole in the side of the mountain on the farther side of the San Gabriel River, and then the newspaper man found that he was about to witness another incident in the interminable Azusa water-right fight. As this was not exactly to his liking from a moral standpoint, he remarked to Mr. Marsh that he thought he would go down to the town of Azusa and take a bed for the night. Mr. Marsh, instead of acquiescing in this reasonable change in the programme, remarked that the party had come off without any cook, and that, as the boys were all hungry and thirsty, the war correspondent of THE TIMES had better peel himself and make a fire and some coffee. This was heartrending, but scrabbling over about three square miles of open beach in search of dry driftwood was considerably more so, and when the scribe had gathered enough to raise a little two-penny blaze he let the job out and endeavored to so roll himself up in his blanket (this war correspondent always carries his blanket with him) that should any of the opposition appear they would take him for a woolly horse or some other zoological mystery, and, instead of shooting him, pass him on to the first circus they could find, where life would be easier than it was in building fires with wet wood in the teeth of a north wind traveling at the rate of several hundred miles per hour.

But it was an awful cold night. The men had, after a little protest at working in the night, taken their implements and could be heard throwing dirt for all they were worth, and from time to time the voice of the master of ceremonies encouraging them to work like one who shall be nameless, and yet never so much as removed a stitch of his own clothes. There were enough men to make three shifts and drink all the coffee the war correspondent could make in the intervals of gathering wood and taking a curse-ory view of the situation. The men worked hard and to such good advantage that they had almost reached the last impediment when the first streaks of the coming dawn began to show in the eastern sky and make things look colder than ever.

Just at this time one of the men who had been standing guard down the cañon to warn the workmen of the approach of the opposition, began signaling with his dark lantern, and the men had hardly time to get behind some rocks when two men with rifles over their shoulders were seen coming up the cañon. From the inmost recesses of his blanket the war correspondent of THE TIMES could hear the teeth of some of the shovelers rattling like castanets, and—the scribe pitied them. The men went on, however, without causing any "leaden messenger of death" to go crashing through the brains of any of the little band of water developers, as they were after deer meat and had no time to waste on inferior game.

Daylight had hardly arrived before, from all directions, men were seen coming toward where the men were still working, having been refreshed by a dejeuner cooked in a frying pan, and consisting of bacon and some bread, washed down by some of the same coffe which had helped them out during the silent watches of the night, when H. C. Roberts, one of the water commissioners of the Azusa, appeared on the scene, and in a pleasant tone of voice told the men they had better desist in their work. Mr. Marsh then told Roberts that he had taken the contract to clean out that tunnel, and he proposed to see the thing through if possible. Mr. Roberts was nearest the open country and might prove to be a useful friend in the event of the angry passions of the Azusa and Duarte men rising to a great height. So with a fond farewell to his compadres of the night the war correspondent went over to the enemy and asked if there was anything to eat in the crowd. As an answer he was taken to the town and fed judiciously, when the work of pumping him commenced and went on happily for awhile. The enemy, finding out his profession, were in favor of returning him up the cañon, while they searched for a priso were hard to check when arriving at the starting flag, and were very restless while endeavored to mount. In one or two instances his horse got away after dismounting, and on three occasions he was prevented from making a quick mount on account of the swerving round of his steed.

The first mile was about an even thing, both men moved away nicely, and arrived at the pole at almost the same moment.

In the second mile Pugh had the misfortune to ride a bay animal that could hardly go a mile in four minutes, and the result was that Prior gained about one-eighth of a mile, which distance was held by him with little variation until the twelfth mile. On his arrival at the end of every mile he was cheered by his adherents and backers. Pugh received several ovations on his cat-like motions in mounting and dismounting. A foul was claimed once against Prior, as a friend helped him to mount. The judge admonished the friends of Prior not to repeat the offense under penalty of his losing the race.

It was endeavored to stop cheering and hollering when the riders arrived at the pole, but that invitation was not heeded by the thoroughly excited crowd.

In the twelfth mile Pugh overtook and passed Prior, and when he arrived home, making a splendid mount, he was cheered lustily, and with a vim that showed conclusively that he had the sympathy of thousands present. The ardor of Prior's friends was correspondingly dampened, and from this on to the finish Pugh's stock went up. Pools that were about even at the start were by very large odds in favor of Pugh, who kept the lead of about a quarter of a mile to the finish.

Pugh had really only three good horses, and these he used one after the other. He at first refused to enter the race, as the horses promised him were not on hand. Several of his townsmen, however, skirmished around and paid as high as $75 for the use of one horse for him. He won the race in the good time of one hour six and one-half minutes.

The excitement of the vast crowd was intense when he rode in on the last mile. Hats were thrown in the air, cheers were given him as he was carried from the track on the shoulders of his friends, and the scene was, indeed, a lively one.

This ended the day's sport. The weather, condition of the track and the attractions offered all combined to make the day the liveliest of the week thus far, and to bring together the largest crowd ever within the inclosure.

NOTES.

Thanks to Dr. Baker, the obliging weigher and clerk of the Association, the reporters' stand was kept free from those having no business there and thereby hindering members of the press from attending to their duties.

There was an impromptu fight after the 20-mile race, but it was of short duration and no blood was spilled.

A few more cars leaving the Park after the closing of the races would be an accommodation to those who are obliged to remain a short time longer than the rest. It takes a full hour to get back to the city, the one horse, or, rather, small mule having a hard tug of it dragging fifty passengers back to town.

CONFERENCE.

Second Day of the Methodist Conference.

Pursuant to adjournment, the annual conference of the M. E. Church South reassembled yesterday at 9 a.m., Bishop Hargrove in the chair. After roll call and reading of the minutes, the following preachers were examined as to "blamelessness of life and official administration:" C. W. Harris, J. S. Chapman, R. W. Bailey, R. Pratt, John Wood, J. M. Langston, C. C. Wright, W. T. Burk, R. G. Allen and R. H. Amon, all of whom passed the examination creditably. Traveling elders then passed examination as to character and made their reports.

The case of Andrew Atkinson was taken from the table, and by Mr. Atkinson's request his application for admission to the conference was withdrawn.

S. P. Smithey was advanced to the class of the third year.

Revs. Fitzgerald Sale Parker and Louis Philippe Smithey were elected deacons.

Rev. F. G. Finley was elected elder.

Rev. C. W. Harris requested to be relieved as a traveling preacher. The request was granted.

William Moores and S. M. Adams were judged to be superannuated, and upon recommendation of the Committee on Conference Relations they were retired.

The next annual conference will be held at San Diego.

SANTA FE TRACK.

A Number of Men Arrested for Tearing Up the Rails.

Alfred Powell, David Butt and H. Kindblom, foremen, and C. Moffit, William Trainor, Tom Gray, James Welch, Tom Mehan and J. J. Moots, laborers, were yesterday arrested by Sergt. Jeffries and a squad of police for obstructing the street.

The men had been tearing up the Santa Fé's track on First street, the officers claim, without a permit. The men claimed they were acting under orders from superiors, and were not aware that they were violating a city ordinance. Mayor Workman, after being sent for, released the men upon the promise of the railroad people that they would build a bridge over the track, so as not to interfere with traffic on the street.

HENRY GIBBS.

He Employs Small Boys to Stone the Army.

Henry Gibbs was on Monday arrested on complaint of several members of the Salvation Army, who charge him with interfering in their religious exercises. Gibbs states that the army is a nuisance and interferes with his business by obstructing the sidewalk in front of his residence. About half of the corps of Salvationists were yesterday in Judge Austin's court to testify to Gibbs' wickedness. It was also proven by other witnesses that he had tried to secure the services of divers small boys to stone the army. He was convicted of battery and allowed to depart until October 14th, when he will be sentenced.

District Court Trial Jurors.

In the United States District Court yesterday, twenty-four term trial jurors were selected and ordered to appear today at 10 o'clock a. m. The names are as follows: William McLean, Deiderick Mahlstead, Edward Mansfield, John H. Shoemaker, S. M. Lawson, W. C. Harlem, Michael Levy, Herman Bosshard, James Castrucio, Patrick Fitzwilliam, Charles T. Paul, Robert Elliott, E. B. Switzer, Peter Warner, L. Harris, T. L. Gooch, R. Garvey, A. H. Voigh, B. Cohn, W. W. Robinson, W. M. Hughes, A. L. Bragg, S. A. Ayers, Charles H. Russell.

Rough on Partners.

Maurice Andrews and Edward Meyers are room-mates. Maurice has always considered Meyers his friend. He had assisted him when the latter came to this city, without means, and looking for work. Meyers reciprocated his friend's kindness by breaking open his friend's trunk and helping himself to all the cash in sight, $35. Andrews discovered the theft and the thief, and Judge Austin upon hearing the story, promptly issued a warrant charging Mr. Meyers with petty larceny.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

Los Angeles Club of the Ancient Order of Foresters held their first meeting last night at the Louvre Hall. The following officers were elected: Frank Wilson, President; J. J. Reardon, Vice-President; G. J. Isaacson, Secretary and Treasurer pro tem. The society had a large list of charter members, and the roll will be kept open a few weeks longer for new applicants. The next meeting will be on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, in No. 3 N. Main street.

Unless You Want to Buy, Don't Read This.

Being directly interested in the building of a standard gauge railroad from Los Angeles along the foothills to Santa Monica, places us in position to offer some gilt-edged bargains at various points along the route. We are sole agents for the sale of lots in Prospect Hill subdivision, in the Lick Tract, where grading has already begun and the building of a $75,000 hotel, "The Winchester," will be pushed to completion as rapidly as men and material can do it. This is the finest and most beautiful subdivision in the county, and only fifteen minutes' ride from Spring street. The cars will be running to this subdivision by October 20th, and a fine depot will be built immediately. Strangers and tourists are especially invited to call at our office and inspect the plans for the hotel; also maps of subdivisions. We have also several other tracts or subdivisions on the line of railroad and boulevard, which we will be pleased to show our customers at any time. Sunset boulevard, as well as the Foothills Railroad, runs through or near all these tracts, and we can accommodate you with large or small lots or acre tracts on which large profits may be realized. Being interested in the railroad, we can show you just where the depot buildings and sidings will be, so you will know just where to select lots either for business or residence purposes. Our carriage is always ready, and we will take pleasure in showing any one who desires to purchase, or to furnish any information in regard to the above properties. Strangers are particularly invited to make our office their headquarters while in the city, where any information in regard to real estate or railroad matters will be cheerfully given. We have some fine bargains in city property, houses and lots, in various parts of the city. Also a small hotel at The Palms, doing a fine business.

AT THE PAVILION.

THE BIGGEST CROWD OF THE WEEK PRESENT LAST NIGHT.

The Baby Show to Take Place This Afternoon—A Number of Awards Made Yesterday—Drawing to a Close.

Yesterday's attendance at the Pavilion was the largest since the fair's inauguration. This was no doubt due to the knowledge that the Arion quartette would sing some excellent numbers. The audience last night was estimated at over 1200. E. D. Crandall, first tenor; C. H. Gabriel, second tenor; J. W. Gardiner, first bass, and A. S. De Yoe, second bass, comprising the Los Angeles Arion Quartette, rendered the following numbers: "Toast," Zoiner; "How Can I Leave Thee," Cramer, and "Lovely Night," Chivatal. In the art gallery there has been placed by some joker a box labeled "The only red bats in the world; take one." Upon removing the cover of the box there are discovered four brickbats. The box and the bats create considerable amusement. The awards in the baby show will be made today. The following is the complete list of babies who have entered the lists:

THE Board of Trade is doing a good thing in establishing its bureau of information, and public-spirited citizens ought to respond liberally with their contributions.

IF Mayor Workman's Commission of Engineers will make a speedy examination of the sewer plans and an early report to the Council, they will win the good opinion of Los Angeles. The situation demands a scriptural yea, yea, or nay, nay, and no unnecessary dalliance.

THE Tribune, having long tried in vain to pluck the Associated Press dispatches, is engaged in the congenial work of howling at the sour grapes. Meanwhile the dispatches of the greatest newsgatherer in the world hang just as high as ever, regardless of the howling.

PACIFIC Mail says she is not afraid of the Marquis del Campo's steamship line down the Coast from San Francisco to Central America. By means of her New York business and exclusive Panama privileges she thinks she can run the new competitor off. Maybe she can, but competition is worth trying for all that.

THERE still hovers about the Compton murder and barn burning a mystery, which the officers are no doubt doing their utmost to elucidate. The finger of suspicion is pointed at the woman who was known to be last in company with the murdered man, and who has been placed under arrest. Some compromising notes of her movements were dug up by a TIMES reporter yesterday.

THAT must have been a rather striking spectacle yesterday when President Cleveland and party rode to the summit of the Kansas City bluff overlooking the expansive West Kansas "bottoms," and all the engines on all the fifteen railroad lines focused there opened their brazen throttles and tooted. The Kansas City people no doubt thought that the best way to impress the President with the toot-ensemble of the place.

IT now transpires that the claim of the United States to exclusive jurisdiction over the fisheries of Bering Sea is based upon the position that that body of water is completely land-locked and therefore ranks as inland. A brief filed at Sitka by A. K. Delaney, Consul for the United States, takes this position and sustains it with facts and arguments. This doubtless lays the foundation for an international treaty which shall set the matter effectually at rest.

THE Board of Trade cannot do a better service for Southern California than to nail the lies that have been recently promulgated in the East through the correspondence of the New York Herald and other papers. Nothing but authoritative contradiction will settle these libels. Southern California is not in any financial straits; is not on the verge of a reaction or panic; is not hesitating and uncertain as to the future. In every essential this is one of the most prosperous sections of the United States today, and the sooner such information is generally disseminated the better.

JOHN LANG, a pioneer of the northern end of this county, and the one after whom the settlement of Lang is named, we believe, writes a letter to THE TIMES, in which he sets forth the advantages of a certain route through the mountains, which he commends and offers to point out for the projected railroad from this city to Salt Lake. Mr. Lang is a hunter and prospector from away back, and is probably familiar with every rod of this country, as he represents. He says that the route he designates is much more feasible than the Mojave route adopted by the Southern Pacific; that it furnishes an easy grade, would require no expensive bridges and only one short tunnel. It may be well for the projectors of the new road to accept Mr. Lang's good offices, at least to the extent of having their engineers examine the route he suggests.

The Division of American Methodism.

The eighteenth annual conference of the Methodist Church South, now in session in this city, calls to mind a very interesting episode in the history of American Methodism, and one that had much to do with shaping and solidifying the current of thought that culminated in the war between the States.

Prior to 1844 American Methodism was whole and under one government. In the general conference of that year, however, which assembled in the city of New York, the organization split upon the question of slavery. Bishop Andrew, who presided over that conference, had married a lady who was a slaveholder, and the Northern delegates demanded that Bishop Andrew should manumit his slaves. The Bishop answered this demand by denying that he held slaves—asserting, in explanation, that the bondsmen to whom the Northern delegates referred were the property of his wife, they having been acquired by her prior to his marriage.

The Northern men insisted upon their demand, while the Southerners cited the fact that slavery was not condemned by any law or canon of the church; therefore, admitting the ruling forced by the Northern delegates, to wit, that Bishop Andrew did hold slaves under the then laws of the church, there was no case against him. The Northerners still insisted and threatened to remove the Bishop. Whereupon the Southern brethren denied the right of a general conference to remove a bishop without cause founded in the written laws and rules of the Methodist Church of America. The struggle was fierce and long continued and ended in an agreement to disagree.

The warring factions agreed to divide the church. The frontier of territorial demarcation was fixed at Mason and Dixon's line. Across that line both factions pledged themselves not to preach or proselyte. Congregations in close juxtaposition to the designated frontier were to choose by election with whom they should remain and all community property was divided pro rata, according to membership.

Thus the Methodist Church South was organized, and two years later—1846, it held its first general conference. Since the war a better feeling has gradually obtained among the Methodist fraternity North and South. Mason and Dixon's line has long since disappeared and both organizations now labor and preach wherever they find a field.

It is pleasant to know that many of the influential leaders of both churches regard the time as not far distant when the Methodists of America will again assemble in one fold.

Interesting Points in Pomology.

Some very interesting data was presented before the pomological meeting recently held at Boston, in which the country at large, particularly the West, was well represented.

A paper was read by the Secretary of the Ohio Horticultural Society wherein it was assumed that an intimate relation existed between forest destruction and the deterioration of fruits; that many of the more delicate varieties of fruits which could once be grown in regions where there were forests cannot be successfully grown after the forests are cut away; that even hardy trees, like apples, have failed; and that insects are driven to fruit trees as their natural food when the forests are cut away.

An essay on wild fruits attracted considerable attention. The essayist went on to show that a few years ago no native raspberry was considered of much account, and he pointed out that the Cuthbert had shouldered its way to the front. In 1885 no less than twenty-five of the best varieties were shown to have been derived from the wild stock. He also asserted that no great progress was made with strawberries until the cultivators began to build on wild stock.

He justified the attempt to improve on wild stock by selecting the Juneberry, Missouri currant, wild gooseberry, high-bush huckleberry, persimmon and pawpaw, and stated that nearly all the small fruits have been domesticated from wild stock.

Prof. Lintner, State Entomologist of New York, read a paper on "Pests and Pomologists," from which we take the following:

"There are now 5000 species of more or less injurious insects known in America, probably 1000 of which attack fruit. But there are 325,000 species in the world, a good many of them hungry for cultivated fruit, and we are liable to be called upon to fight many more than we now have to take care of. Two centuries ago there were hardly any insects here that preyed upon the apple. When the trees were scarce a female insect was driven to fly miles to find an apple limb to lay her eggs on, but now, when single orchards often cover a square mile, food and breeding places are in excess of the insects' need, and we have 300 species preying upon this tree alone. This massing of fruit-bearing trees, shrubs and vines give just the conditions for increasing the number and strength of these pests, invite species which have lived on other food to change their habits, and afford means for rapid distribution. Besides this, foreign species, imported by chance, found themselves in a new country, free from the natural enemies that kept them down at home, and they at once became more dangerous than they were in their native land. Thus, the scale insects brought from Australia into California on an acacia plant in '69 now threaten to destroy the orange groves on the Pacific Coast, and if carried across the Rocky Mountains, as they have been on a tree-cutting, orange culture in Florida would be doomed. While, therefore, we cultivate fruit, we, at the same time, cultivate and encourage the enemies of fruit, and the successful grower in time to come will be the man who knows most about insects and their habits."

The views expressed by the Boston pomologists, relative to forests, would seem, in some measure, to clash with the practice of some California fruit-growers who have been in the habit of looking with disfavor upon natural timber growths in the close proximity of their orchards and vineyards.

The Case of Hong Di.

A rather queer kink of the law is illustrated in the case of Hong Di, the Chinese murderer, which is still passed along on the calendar of the Supreme Court. It will be remembered that Hong Di was tried before the Colusa Court; that a habeas corpus was taken to the Supreme Court of the State; that Judge Lynch, taking up the issue at this point, proceeded to hang Hong Di, in disregard of the Supreme Court's authority. Hong Di is, therefore, physically dead, but legally he is alive and kicking. His case has not been erased from the Supreme Court docket, and probably it will not be until it passes through the regulation red tape. Wednesday, on motion of the Deputy Attorney-General, it was ordered that the respondent be allowed twenty days to file brief, and that plaintiff have ten days to reply; cause to be thereupon submitted. At the end of thirty days from date the case will doubtless be called, and the august court will be informed that plaintiff has not responded, and that, owing to adverse circumstances, which he could not exactly control, he is not present. Then, doubtless, the court will allow the appeal to be dismissed by default, and Hong Di's legal existence, without having been brought into question, will slip into the limbo of things forgotten upon earth. Thus the shades of the hapless Mongol will be relieved of all further embarrassment.

And yet they say that the law never does a vain thing.

THE remains of the late Gen. Kilpatrick, which arrived at New York yesterday from Aspinwall, are to be interred, according to his own request, in the United States Military Cemetery at West Point. Gen. Kilpatrick was one of the most successful and famous cavalry commanders of the late war, holding a place next that of the redoubtable Gen. Phil Sheridan. He was a native of New Jersey, born in 1836, and was graduated from West Point in 1861. He participated in nearly all the battles of the West, from Big Bethel to the march to the sea. After the war he became famous as a lecturer and went on a mission to one of the South American Republics, where he died in 1881.

Reception and Banquet in Honor of S. M. W., W. H. Jordan.

Supreme Master Workman W. H. Jordan and Grand Master Workman E. F. Lourd, of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, were tendered a reception and banquet last night by the Workmen of Los Angeles. The reception was held in the hall of Germania Lodge, and the banquet took place in the dining hall of the new United States Hotel.

The order with the grand officers and visiting members, marched in a body from Germania Lodge to the banqueting hall, where the company assembled promptly at 10:30 o'clock, with James Booth as president of the evening.

The tables were loaded with all the good things of the season, garnished by fruits and flowers of every kind and description. After vigorously assaulting the delicate and tempting viands, President Booth proposed the first toast.

"Our order," which was responded to by Supreme Master Jordan in a happy manner. Toast after toast followed, and speech after speech interspersed with song and repartee made the hours steal softly away on the wings of pleasure.

Mayor Workman was called upon to respond to the toast "The City of the Angels" and being absent, a letter from him was read, in which his Honor designated Homer O. Cates as his representative. Mr. Cates made a very appropriate response.

The toast "Our Press" was responded to by Hon. J. D. Lynch, who said in conclusion: "In this glass of cold, glittering water—which I now see before me—I propose the health and prosperity of the United Order of Workmen."

The response of Hon. J. K. Brierly, to "The Ladies" was pungent and witty. A song especially composed in honor of the Supreme Master Workman by Samuel Mood was sung by that gentleman.

President Booth also sang a song, and both gentlemen were heartily applauded. At the conclusion the president urged all to attend an open meeting, which takes place tonight. In the very happiest of moods, the company dispersed a little after midnight.

Southern Pacific Accused of Booming Southern California—Forged Chinese Certificates in Washington Territory—Forest Fires Up North, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Gen. Dimond of Williams, Dimond & Co., agents of the Pacific Mail Company, said in an interview today in regard to the Marquis Del Campo's steamship line: "The Pacific Mail Company is not at all disturbed by the possibility or certainty of a rival along the Central American coast. The volume of business done with New York is such that we can discount the Marquis, or Señor Irigoyen, his agent here, on rates. There is not enough traffic along Central America to warrant another line, and we will continue to get business, because we can put freight so low that opposition steamers will have to go off the line. Our vessels will be supported by the New York trade and will lose nothing. They will not have, and cannot have, any eastern connection or road across the Isthmus, for we have an exclusive contract there. The Pacific Mail is not alarmed, will not pool and can meet anything the Marquis can offer."

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The steamer City of Pueblo of the Alexander line has been sold to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The steamer City of Atlanta has been chartered to take her place on the New York and Mexican line.

SPRECKELS DENIES.

The Fast Line from San Diego Not Yet Arranged.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] John D. Spreckels denies the truth of the telegram from the East announcing that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Company will run 100-hour trains from New York to San Diego in connection with the Oceanic Steamship Company. He states that no such agreement exists, nor is it probable that the steamers will touch at San Diego for a year yet.

"While it is a fact," said Mr. Spreckels today, "that the railroad company has made overtures to us of the nature indicated, it is yet altogether premature to say that the negotiations have approached, still less reached, completion. As a matter of fact, our contracts with the Governments of New South Wales and New Zealand do not expire until a year from next November, and until we know what is to be done in regard to them it is impossible to entertain any other proposition of the nature indicated."

It is quite likely, although it has not yet been definitely settled, that John D. Spreckels will go to Sydney on the next steamer, which sails on the 21st inst., to see about a renewal of the present contract.

"On the result of that visit will," said Mr. Spreckels, "of course, largely depend our future arrangements."

MUTINY.

The Captain of an American Ship Murdered at Sea.

PORT TOWNSEND, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The American ship Occidental, commanded by Capt. W. Taylor, formerly of the Harvester, arrived yesterday, after a voyage of thirty-eight days from Acapulco. The Occidental left Cardiff on the 29th of January, under command of Capt. John Williams, who had with him his wife, three children, a nurse and servant. In latitude 13.04 north and longitude 25.18 west, on the afternoon of March 16th, Capt. Williams had occasion to order John Johnson to the forecastle for insolent and dilatory conduct. Johnson armed himself with a knife, and creeping up behind the captain stabbed him in the left breast, the knife penetrating to the heart. The captain ran to the cabin where his family was, and fell dead at the door. Craine pursued Johnson, and was in turn followed by Edward O'Malley, a seaman, with an uplifted knife. Craine seized a spike, when the crew ranged themselves on the side of the mutineers and defied the officers to attempt to arrest Johnson. Four hours later Jonhson was surrendered and ironed, only to be released again by the crew. Williams was buried at sea and Craine succeeded as captain.

How the Restriction Act is Evaded at Port Townsend.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] United States Commissioner Sawyer today received a report from James G. Swan, who in September last was appointed a special United States Commissioner to investigate Chinese return-certificate frauds at Port Townsend. This report embraces the replies of Collectors Beecher, Brooks, Harned and Bash to interrogatories concerning the handwriting on four certificates in Swan's possession. Ex-Collector Bash testified that the signatures on three certificates purporting to have been issued to Chinese during his term in office were forgeries, while that on the certificate issued by A. L. Blake, now deceased, he thought was genuine. Beecher, Brooks and Harned concurred in this testimony.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Beginning about Christmas time, the Southern Pacific Company will run three daily passenger trains to Los Angeles.

Complaint is made by residents of this city that the Southern Pacific Company is working the excursion business into Los Angeles in opposition to the Atlantic and Pacific, while it leaves San Francisco to take care of itself. The Southern Pacific officials deny this, saying that they exert no influence with travelers in the routing of excursionists.

THE FISHERIES.

Legal Position of the United States Regarding Bering Sea.

OTTAWA (Ont.), Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The Government here is in receipt of advices from Sitka which contain a brief understood to have been prepared in Washington and filed in the court at Sitka by A. K. Delaney, as counsel for the United States in the latter's claim of exclusive dominion over Bering Sea, as brought out in the existing seal fisheries dispute.

Delaney takes the position that Bering Sea is not a portion of the open or high sea. It is inland water cut off from land and essentially land locked. The assertion that the United States upholds the three mile limit on the Atlantic Ocean and opposes the same idea in the Pacific, is disposed of by Delaney as follows:

"Concerning the doctrine in international law establishing what is known as the 'Marine League Belt,' which extends the jurisdiction of a nation in the adjacent seas for a distance of one marine league, or three miles from the shores, and following all indentations of the coast, there is, at this date, no room for discussion. It must be accepted as the settled law of nations. It is sustained by the highest authority, law writers and jurists. It has been sanctioned by the United States since the foundation of the Government. Well grounded as this is, this doctrine of law of nations is no more firmly established as a part of the international code than that other principle which gives to a nation supremacy of jurisdiction and dominion over its own inland waters, gulfs, bays and seas. If the sea is entirely inclosed by the territory of the nation, and has no other communication with the ocean than by a channel of which that nation may take possession, it appears that such a sea is no less capable of being occupied and becoming property than land, and it ought to follow the fate of the country that surrounds it."

The Y. M. C. A. Convention.

WOODLAND, Oct. 13.—There was a large increase in the number of delegates to the Y.M.C.A. Convention today. Gen. O. O. Howard presided and welcomed the delegates to the seventh annual State Convention. The greater portion of the day was devoted to the reading of reports from local associations and college Christian associations.

The "Building Era" was the subject of an interesting paper by J. G. Choan.

Rev. J. H. Hector (colored), pastor of Zion Methodist Church of San Francisco, delivered an address at 4 o'clock. Rev. C. D. Barrows addressed the convention tonight on the subject of "The revival factor in association work." The convention will close on Sunday evening.

Miles of Fire.

JACKSON, Oct. 13.—Several destructive brush fires have occurred near this town this week. One, five miles east, swept over from twenty to thirty square miles, threatening the towns of Pine Grove and Clinton, burning several barns, a quantity of hay, fencing, farming implements and about 500 cords of cut wood. Fire between Sutter Creek and Ione yesterday morning destroyed the Mt. Echo schoolhouse and devastated several miles of territory.

A Priest's Punishment.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—In the jail this morning a man named Ditcasson, who claimed to be a priest, was given twenty lashes on the bare back with a cat-o'-nine-tails in pursuance to a mandate of the court, which sentenced him to twenty-three months' imprisonment and twenty lashes for indecent assault on a young girl.

Train Ordered to Hold His Tongue or Go to Jail.

Yellow Fever Spreading in Florida—Panic at Jacksonville.

An Atrocious Crime at Fond du Lac—The Asylum Horror in Ohio—The Bankers' Convention—Connecticut's Collapsed Bank—Eastern Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Secretary Lamar has received a telegraphic report from Special Agent Howard on the situation at the Crow agency, Montana. The report confirms the previous dispatches which stated that hostile demonstrations had been made by the band under "Medicine Man" during the issuance of rations. The report states that this band had been firing into the roofs of houses during the day, and on the arrival of the military removed their squaws to the opposite side of the river and defied the soldiers for hours. Had any attempts at arrest been made bloodshed would have ensued. The report states that if "Medicine Man" be not arrested soon the whole Crow nation will be demoralized and trouble will ensue.

THE BANKERS.

Second Day of the Great Gathering at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] A large number of additional delegates attended today's session of the American Bankers' Association. Many resolutions, chiefly aiming at more Federal and State enactments favorable to bankers, were introduced, but, without action, were referred to the Executive Council of the Association.

The Nominating Committee reported a list of proposed officers for the ensuing year. The ticket was headed by Logan C. Murray of New York for president.

Papers on various subjects were read by C. P. Williams of Albany, Elliott F. Shepard of New York, Henry M. Knox of Minnesota, H. B. Wilson of Ohio and Beriah Wilkins of Ohio.

The report of the Committee on Silver came up. The committee said that the American Bankers' Association has already taken the grounds that both paper and gold are required as the money of the world, but that an international agreement only on the part of a majority of the chief commercial nations of the world can practically settle the question of the relative value of gold and silver when cornered. The report refers to the action taken by foreign powers, and concluded with a recommendation that the coinage of silver dollars by the United States be suspended until the points at issue in the silver question be settled by international agreement. The report was adopted.

KILPATRICK'S REMAINS.

His Ashes to Rest in the West Point Cemetery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamer Newport, from Aspinwall, having the remains of the late Gen. Kilpatrick on board, was docked early this morning. Mrs. Kilpatrick and her two daughters, who accompanied the body, went to the hotel. A number of friends of the deceased were on the dock when the boat arrived. It was at first supposed the remains would be interred in the family plot at Deckerstown, N. J., but Mrs. Kilpatrick informed the gentlemen interested in the funeral arrangement that it was the General's wish to have the body laid at rest in the United States Military Cemetery at West Point. Gen. Sherman has volunteered to speak at the funeral.

A MURDEROUS MARAUDER.

He Clubs Five Women Almost to Death.

FOND DU LAC (Wis.), Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] A shocking crime was committed near the limits of town early this morning. An unknown burglar entered the residence of Mrs. William Koehne and her four daughters. He was not discovered until he attempted a criminal assault upon one of the women. Unsuccessful in this, he attacked the five women with a club, nearly killing all of them. The walls and floor of the house are spattered with blood, and everything indicates a terrible struggle. The assailant secured $3 and escaped. A reward has been offered for his detection. The unfortunate victims are lingering between life and death.

More About the Stafford Springs Bank Wreck.

STAFFORD SPRINGS (Ct.), Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Excitement over the downfall of the Stafford Springs National Bank continues to run high. United States National Bank Examiner Forman says that the shortage grows bigger and bigger. The latest investigation, he said, reveals the fact that the deficit is $80,000, but there is no doubt that it is in excess of that amount. Aside from the above, bad debts amount to $75,000, in addition to what is recorded in the books, making the aggregate over $150,000.

THE ASYLUM DISASTER.

Three escaped patients were captured this morning and only two are now unaccounted for. The Coroner is making an investigation.

A train was met at Orange Park. All persons from Palatka were [illegible] back.

A special from Tampa says there have been six new cases today and two deaths.

An Enormous Capital Stock.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The capital stock of the Pullman Palace Car Company, already at the enormous total of $15,920,000, was today increased 25 per cent., making the aggregate amount nearly $20,000,000. The increase was recommended by President Pullman, who stated it to be for the purpose of "providing the capital required to meet the cost of additional equipment, and for further extension in the near future."

SWINGING AROUND.

President Cleveland Makes Two Speeches at Kansas City, Sees the Sights and Starts for Memphis.

By Telegraph to The Times.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The demonstration in Kansas City, in honor of President Cleveland, is a tumultuous and noisy proceeding, but attended with no more disorder than seems inevitable wherever the President appears. The Exposition had called a great number of strangers, but the advent of the President has hardly left standing room in town.

"You must excuse appearances," said a lady to Mrs. Cleveland, "we have only just moved in and have not got settled yet." The expression was better understood when the visitors were escorted through the streets in carriages this morning by many beautiful palatial residences and signs of the enormous commerce which enters here on every hand. The President's conductors pointed out the features which appeared. There were only carriages enough to carry the visitors and an escort consisting of eleven gentlemen were provided. They were preceded and followed by a small but sufficient corps of cavalry. The party came out from the hotel amid the cheers of a great multitude, and made its way rapidly through the western portion of the town without stopping until they reached the highest altitude in the city. Immediately beneath stretched five or six square miles of railroad yards, and as the President's carriage made its appearance on the brow of the hill every locomotive of all the fifteen roads centering here opened its throat and screamed.

Returning, a brief pause was made at the Exposition building, and from this point the party proceeded to the site of the projected new Y.M.C.A. building, of which President laid the corner-stone. The ceremony was preceded by the singing of hymns, a brief address and prayer by Bishop Hendrix.

THE PRESIDENT'S REMARKS.

The President's remarks upon the occasion were as follows: "In the busy activities of our daily life we are apt to neglect instrumentalities which are quietly but effectually doing the most important service in moulding our national character. Among these and challenging but little practice compared with their valuable results are the Young Men's Christian Associations scattered throughout our country. All will admit the supreme importance of honest and fixed principle which resists Christian motives and purposes and all will acknowledge the sad and increasing temptations which beset our young men and lead them to destruction. These associations have entered the field of Christian effort and are pushing forward noble work. When it is considered that the subjects of their efforts are to be active men for good or evil in the next generation, merely worldly prudence dictates that these associations should be aided and encouraged. Their increase and flourishing condition reflect the highest honor upon the good men who have devoted themselves to this work, and demonstrate that the American people are not entirely lacking in appreciation of its value. I am especially pleased to be able to participate today in laying the corner-stone of another of those edifices in this live and growing city, and trust the Young Men's Christian Association located here may be commensurate with assured usefulness in keeping with the generosity and intelligence which characterize the people of Kansas City."

MORE SPEECHMAKING.

In the afternoon the President and party with Cleveland were escorted through the business streets of the city to the government building where they arrived about 3 o'clock. They were escorted out upon the front balcony, where a stand had been erected. A large crowd numbered fully fifty thousand people. Mayor Kumpf made a formal address of welcome to which the President replied at some length. He spoke of the wonderful growth, prosperity and enterprise of Kansas City, quoted statistics and made comparisons which he thought indicated substantial prosperity.

CLOSING FESTIVITIES.

This evening at 8 o'clock the President, Mrs. Cleveland and party were entertained at dinner by the reception committee and several other prominent citizens, with their wives. The festivities closed tonight with a pageant of "Priests of the Palace," and their subsequent ball. The magnificent pageant was reviewed by the President from the balcony of the hotel. Shortly before 10 o'clock the party quietly proceeded to their train, and by 11 o'clock were on their way to Memphis. Mrs. Cleveland was held in warm remembrance by patients of the City Hospital, who were beneficiaries of a thoughtful act of kindness on her part. The flowers which filled the car on the arrival here, and all those received in the city, making a large wagon load, were by her direction sent to the hospital for the benefit of the patients.

BURNED IN EFFIGY.

An Outgrowth of Cleveland's Visit to Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.), Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The excitement occasioned by the appearance in the Minneapolis Tribune on the morning after President Cleveland's visit of an editorial containing severe strictures on the Administration in the matter of conducting the presidential campaign for votes, culminated tonight when Mr. Blethen, proprietor of the Tribune, was burned in effigy by a crowd led by Mayor Ames of this city. The exceptions taken to the editorial were based principally upon the language used with reference to Mrs. Cleveland. Mr. Blethen regards the affair as a joke on Mayor Ames and his crowd. Important business kept him away from the Tribune office on Tuesday night and he knew nothing whatever of the matter until it appeared on Wednesday morning.

A Miner's Shocking Death.

Teachers Arranging to Hold Their Next National Convention at San Francisco—Starr-King's Monument—Masons in Session—A Rich Smuggler Convicted.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Sheriff McMann today suspended Capt. John McGovern, deputy sheriff, for five days because he admitted Grand Jurors Menzies and Greenbaum to the County Jail without permits last evening when they went there to interview John Thomas Emerson, the jury briber.

James McCord appeared for trial on a charge of jury-bribing, in Judge Sullivan's court this afternoon. The trial of Robert F. Morrow was occupying the attention of the court and Judge Sullivan ordered McCord's bonds increased from $10,000 to $25,000 and remanded him to the custody of the Sheriff, until that amount should be furnished. New bonds were furnished by McCord late in the afternoon. The sureties are Albert W. Scott, Jacob Eppinger, John McCord and Charles B. Stone.

THE TEACHERS.

Trying to Have the Next Convention at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] A meeting of the committee of thirteen citizens which was appointed on Wednesday evening to consider the proposition of the National Teachers' Association to hold their thirty-sixth annual convention in this city next year, met by arrangement this afternoon in the Occidental Hotel and organized by the appointment of Mayor Pond as chairman and Joseph O'Connor as secretary. An informal talk with President Gove of the National Teachers' Association followed, in the course of which Mr. Gove stated that it had been unanimously agreed to hold the convention in San Francisco, provided two conditions were fulfilled, viz: That the railroad fare from the various points should not exceed one fare for the round trip, that is, half fare each way, and that halls for the accommodation of the main body of the convention, which meets mornings and evenings, and for the nine different departments should be provided by the city, free of all charge to the Association. In the event of the educational exposition being likewise held, accommodations would have to be furnished for it on the same terms.]

With reference to the first condition, it was stated that the Central Traffic Association, which controls lines as far west as Chicago, and as far east as Pittsburgh and Buffalo, and the New York Trunk Line Association had not agreed to make this concession, being anxious to secure the meeting for some Eastern point. Messrs. Goodman and Stubbs of the Southern Pacific Railroad, had, however, before leaving for the East, given encouragement, to the hope that this obstruction would be removed.

The local committee promised full accommodation for members of the association. No decision, however, as to holding the convention here could be arrived at. This practically depends on the action of the railroad lines.

THE OUTLOOK FAVORABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—[Special.] J. H. Goodman of the Southern Pacific, who is very favorably disposed toward the convention, went East a few days ago, and will consult with the Eastern railroad men regarding the reduction, which the local educators think will be granted. Nearly all the members of the association desire to visit California, and that fact it is hoped may have some weight with the railroad men. At the Chicago meeting there were over 12,000 educators, probably the largest collection of learned citizens the country has known. One thousand dollars was appropriated by the association for advertising the convention, but none of this money will be expended until it is decided whether San Francisco is to be the place of meeting. Denver raised a fund of $10,000 for the convention, and several Eastern cities raised even larger amounts. W.

The Wolverines Capture the Fourth Game for the World's Championship—Events on the Turf.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Detroit won the fourth game of the world's championship series, played here today. The victory was an easy one for the League champions, who nevertheless played a wonderful game. King pitched for the Browns and was batted very freely from the start, Detroit scoring four runs in the first inning, while St. Louis made only two hits off Baldwin. Magnificent fielding cut off many hits of the Browns.

In the first inning Richardson's liner to left passed O'Neill and he made second. Ganzel and Rowe went out but Thompson's hit passed Robinson for a double and Richardson scored. Dunlap made a one-bagger and stole to second, and on Bennett's single to left Thompson and Dunlap scored. Hanlon retired side. Latham, for the Browns, fouled out. Gleason died on first, and O'Neill hit safe past Dunlap, but Comiskey struck out. Detroit scored again in the second on a hit, an out, a passed ball and a wild throw of Gleason. In the fifth they scored on Dunlap's three-bagger and out, and twice in the sixth on errors of Gleason, a steal, a three-bagger by Rowe, a passed ball and Thompson's single.

The Browns got only one man as far as third—Bushong in the fifth inning. The fielding of White, Dunlap and Rowe and Thompson's batting were features of the game. Score: Detroit, 8; St. Louis, 0.

Gen. Boulanger Arrested by Order of Minister Ferron

For Language Used in Regard to the Caffarel Scandal.

Other Foreign News—Jenny Lind Dying—The German Crown Prince in a Precarious Condition—Death of a Noted Author—Irish Justice.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Council of Generals, which was appointed for the purpose of trying Gen. Caffarel on charges preferred against him of selling civil decorations, has pronounced the accused guilty of habitual dishonorable misconduct. It was decided by Council to place Caffarel on the retired list of the army. A decree for the execution of the decision will be submitted by Gen. Ferron, Minister of War, to President Grévy for signature.

Gen. Ferron telegraphed to Gen. Boulanger at Mont Lucon ordering him to return forthwith to Clermont-Ferrand, his headquarters, and asking if the words attributed to him by the newspapers in connection with the Caffarel affair were correctly reported. The newspapers alleged that Boulanger informed a reporter that he never doubted that prosecution of Gen. Caffarel was aimed at himself. He stated that he defied a most minute inquiry into his conduct, and said that if he had been Minister of War and Gen. Caffarel had avowed his guilt to him he would have offered him a revolver with which to blow his brains out.

BOULANGER'S REPLY.

Gen. Boulanger, in reply to Gen. Ferron's telegram, said:

"I have returned to Clermont-Ferrand. I am unable to procure the newspapers mentioned. Send them to me."

Gen. Caffarel has been deprived of his decoration of the Legion of Honor. His pension, granted for thirty-nine years of service in the army, will be reduced from 8000 to 4000 francs.

Gen. Ferron has sent another telegram to Boulanger, demanding a categorical reply to the charges against him.

THE TRIENNIAL RELIGIOUS ceremonies of the Chinese commence in the Temple in Nigger Alley, at 8 o'clock a.m., on the 21st day of October, 1887, and continue three days and nights.

During this time the Chinese people abstain from the use of all animal food, and while the services are open to the public, all persons are prohibited from the use of flesh, fish or fowl or carrying of the same in or about the Temple.

The ceremonies will be conducted by three priests and five musicians, brought here from San Francisco by the resident Chinese merchants and business men.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,
CONSUMPTION,
Together with diseases of the
EYE, EAR AND HEART,
Successfully treated by
M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,
M. C. P. S. O.,
No. 275 North Main Street,
A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by
DR. WILLIAMS,
With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and oet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

Spoke He Knows.

THE TRUE ROUTE FROM MOJAVE to LOS ANGELES CITY.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In common with people of Los Angeles, I feel a deep anxiety for the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad to prove a success, hence I propose giving the benefit of my experience of nearly 20 years hunting bears, deer and mines in these hills. I could travel most of the ground over in a dark night; know every pass, and am vain enough to believe I can judge pretty well of railroad routes without having instruments with me. The Southern Pacific Railroad could have found a much better route from Mojave to Los Angeles, but they missed it, and now I feel that our own people should avail themselves of this lucky mistake. Now, if it is certain that our road will come to Mojave, let a party of surveyors come out here first before any money is vainly spent in hunting for a route through the hills by way of Tejunga, Pacoima, Arroyo Seeco, or anywhere in that section. Any of these routes will be immensely expensive, and, besides, nothing but a very heavy grade can be obtained at best. The gentlemen suggesting these routes are honest and mean well no doubt, but don't know the country. I do, and well know that I can put surveyors on a line cheap to build, and of easy grade. It is a shorter distance, out of all washouts. In fact, everything essential in railroad construction is unusually favorable. There is a plenty of water on this route for years. I have known of this route and am convinced it will not cost one-fourth the money that either of the other routes will. There would be no costly bridges, only a few culverts, a solid foundation for a roadbed all the way; no tunnel until the San Fernando range is reached and this will be only short. This route takes in all the best mines through the county. It should first be examined by all means. I have no friends to reward or enemies to punish in this matter; am simply actuated by a desire to do all I possibly can to insure the building of this road and every one on the line will freely give the right of way and do all they can to help the enterprise. Respectfully

JOHN LANG.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Money on call was easy at 4 to 5 per cent.; last loan, 4; closed offered, 4.

Prime mercantile paper, 6@8 per cent.

Sterling exchange strong and active at 4.81 for 60-day bills; 4.85 for demand.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The stock market today was very active, feverish and irregular, but most of the time firm to strong. The bears expected to have things all their own way, but good buying early appeared in the market. The bears resisted the improvement with vigor, the result being a feverish and irregular market with an upward tendency. Efforts to depress prices were concentrated especially upon grangers, and St. Paul in particular, which was forced down two points. Stories of a reduction in the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy dividend and big cuts in freight rates, supplemented by free selling of those stocks, were made the most use of. There was undoubtedly some covering during the day, which aided materially in bringing about frequent rallies, and toward the delivery hour purchasing of Reading assumed large proportions, and the upward movement became still more decided. Almost everything is higher tonight, though San Francisco preferred lost 2¼, Norfolk and Western preferred 1¾, and Consolidated Gas 1 per cent. Colorado Coal is up 2, Reading 1¾, Northern Pacific preferred 1¾, Union Pacific 1⅝, Jersey Central, Lake Shore and Oregon Transcontinental 1¼ each, Texas Pacific 1⅛, New England 1¼, Oregon Navigation, Missouri Pacific and Canada Southern each 1 per cent.

Government bonds were dull and strong for 4s.

[illegible] THE Y. M. C. A. [illegible] YESTERDAY MORNING.

[illegible] Up in the Center of the [illegible] With a White Thing Around [illegible] Head—A Strange Uncanny [illegible].

"There is a ghost up the Y. M. C. A. room," ejaculated a well-built young man, with glasses and a red tip which shone youthfully at a point just above his blonde mustache, yesterday morning.

"What ye givin' us?" growled the prisoner.

"It's true biz, old man, and if you will accompany an officer with me I guess he will come to the conclusion that ghosts do visit Los Angeles once in a while."

This little conversation took place in the police station at 3:15 o'clock yesterday morning. There were three or four sleepy officers and a couple of tired reporters hanging around, and after thinking the matter over a few minutes they decided to see the ghost. The Y. M. C. A. reading-room is just above Fort street, on Second, and when the committee of investigation reached the house where good young men meet for spiritual consolation, they found the room brilliantly lighted up. Between 100 and 150 antimony slingers and newsboys had gathered in front of the house. They were standing with mouth and eyes wide open gazing into the windows. They stood at a respectful distance, however, and whispered in the very dimmest of stage whispers. The object which held the crowd spellbound seemed to be a man. It was standing in the center of the room, immediately under the gas jet. Its head was wrapped up in a white substance and in its left hand it held a pocket edition of the New Testament, a few inches from its nose. Its right hand rested peacefully across its breast and its left leg and foot were slightly advanced, as a man will stand when resting. The officers stood a few minutes to gain courage and then marched up to the front door and battered at it until they had aroused the whole neighborhood, but the ghost did not move a muscle. An attempt was made to open the door, but it failed and Officer Leverich tried to crawl through the window with no better success. The crowd in the street was becoming greatly excited and some of the boldest ones were talking of breaking the door in when a head popped out of a window in the second story, and in a trembling voice asked if the house was being robbed. After a good deal of talk and coaxing he consented to come down the back stairs and admit the officers. It was now 4 o'clock, and every body expected to see the ghost disappear into thin air. But he didn't, and when the officers and the man from up stairs made their way through the back part of the house and opened a side door leading into his ghostship's private den, a dead silence fell on the crowd in the street. The officers were armed with dark lanterns and clubs, and one of them grasped a young Gatling gun with both hands. But they were not as brave as they would have been had the stranger been a highwayman. They stood at a respectful distance for fully five minutes, when Leverich advanced a step and gently poked the ghost with his club. It didn't move, and the brave officer backed toward the door. The thing didn't follow, and they all gathered courage and made a rush for it. It was as stiff as a marble statue, and the combined strength of the police force could not bend a limb. They let him down on the floor and rubbed his hands and arms, but there was no sign of life. They put him on his feet and he stood as before. Some one suggested that he be taken to the police station, and they let him down on the floor once more. Then four men gathered him up, one at each shoulder and one at each foot. The procession started and the street crowd scattered. The ghost remained as stiff as a board all the way to the police station, and its carriers deposited it on the stone floor. A doctor was sent for, but he failed to respond, so the reporters and officers went to work, and by 5 o'clock they had succeeded in making the ghost open his eyes. A few minutes after he gave an unearthly yawn and began to kick out in great shape. A dozen officers jumped on him, and had it not been for their handcuffs which were placed on his arms he would have cleaned the shop out, for he seemed to have the strength of 100 men. On investigating his clothing they found that his name is Frank P. Hill, and that he is the Y. M. C. A. janitor. He was confined in a cell until morning, when he was transferred to the County Jail, and will be examined by a commission of lunacy today. He stood in the reading room from 10 o'clock Wednesday night until 4 o'clock yesterday morning without moving a muscle, and the doctors are puzzled.

AISENPREIS.

He Jumps Out of One Trouble Into Another.

G. Aisenpreis, a German who has long been engaged in driving an express wagon in Los Angeles, called at THE TIMES office last evening in a badly bunged-up condition and related a mournful story. His trouble all began with his wife, who, he claims, squandered his substance in riotous living and visits to Santa Monica while they lived together. Three years ago he separted from her, but was overpersuaded by friends to take her back. In this he now thinks he made a mistake. He separated from her a second time about a year ago, giving up to her the home near the East Los Angeles reservoir. Then she brought suit against him and was allowed $15 a month alimony by the court. Aisenpreis refused to pay this money, and in August last was sent to jail. He languished in durance until yesterday at 11 a.m., when he was taken into Judge Gardiner's court, and, as it appeared that he had no wherewith to pay the alimony he was discharged.

Yesterday afternoon Aisenpreis proceeded to the stable, where his team had been standing during his two months of incarceration, and "hooked up" to begin business again. But the broncos, too exuberant after the long period of relaxation, ran away, and smashed up the wagon and their owner pretty thoroughly. Aisenpreis complained that his knees and elbows were badly skinned, and he carried a balcony over his left eye, which if called beetling would only be partially described. Verily, Aisenpreis's lines have not fallen in pleasant places. But he proposes to hitch up his broncos today and try it again.

A COLORED PASTOR.

Received by His Congregation With Open Arms.

The members and congregation of the A. M. E. Church of this city, the only organized colored Methodist church here, gave their newly appointed pastor, the Rev. Jordan Allen, a reception last evening which was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Allen is a transfer from the Kansas Conference to the California Conference, and has been stationed at Sacramento for three years, where he has done a great work for the upbuilding of his church and people. The annual conference held in Sacramento a few weeks ago appointed the Rev. Mr. Allen to take charge of the A. M. E. Church here, and he comes to this charge strongly recommended by some of the best citizens of Sacramento. The friends at the reception made a purse of $6.05, with groceries and other provisions, to start the pastor off in housekeeping.

TURNER VS. TURNER.

Highly Sensational Divorce Evidence Yesterday.

Judge Hutton was yesterday occupied in hearing the complaint of Mrs. Edith Turner against her husband, F. A. Turner, for divorce.

Mrs. Turner, who is about 25 years of age, charges specific acts of cruelty upon the part of her spouse. That on more than one occasion he beat her black and blue, and that he often threatened her life.

The parties have been married over ten years, and were united at Booneville, Mo. Mrs. Turner charges that her husband is addicted to liquor, and his temper is far from amiable. That upon one occasion at [illegible] Mesa, Monday, at 115 South Johnson street, Turner drew a knife upon the wife of his bosom and threatened to cut her heart out, because he claimed she gave other men attentions which belonged only to him. Turner not being in court, Judge Hutton, after hearing the evidence, promptly granted the wife her divorce. His having left the suit go by default is generally commented on, as Mrs. Turner would probably not have gained her suit had he been present.

People's Store Bargains.

On special sale today, a line of embroideries at 10c. a yard. We have had these goods on display for the past two days. They have attracted any amount of attention and comment; every one that has viewed has passed their opinion as it being the cheapest lot ever offered. We have just 200 pieces, which may seem quite a number, but as the values are so great we fear that by noon we will be entirely sold out. For choice come early.

On special sale today, a line of Irish point lace collars at 25c. each. These goods have also been on display, and like the embroideries have also attracted attention, and in cases customers have offered us 35c. apiece to deliver them yesterday. The real value of these goods is 50c. each.

We have received today from Messrs. Alfred Hington Bradford, England, three cases of real English sicilians. These goods differ from the American makes, inasmuch as they are considerable wider, heavy and more brilliant in luster. We have a grade that is double-fold at 25c. Our 35c. quality is as fine as any 50c. yet handled, with a beautiful silk finish. Our 50c. grade is a yard and an eighth wide—that heavy iron texture that has no limit to wear, and cannot be matched. Mind what we say, for less $1 in any establishment on the coast we have a line in black at 65c. and 75c.; and of our 95c. grade we desire to impress you with both width and quality. Remember they are one yard and a half wide, and under ordinary circumstances $1.50 would be their price.

We have on special sale today, a line of fancy Turkish towels 12½c. each. These towels are fancy effects with colored designs. They are much used as tidies, bureau covers and splashers, worth 25c.

We have on special sale today, crepe suitings at 22½c., and these double fold goods in new, choice colors are as good value as we have ever offered, and are worth 40c.

We have on special sale today, heavy black gros grain dress silk at 92c. We make this special offer today to close out a line of our $1.25 silks. It is a fine grain, jet black luster, has firm body and will compare with any silk sold in town at $1.50.

We have on special sale today, black Spanish lace flouncing at $1.25 a yard, the cheapest ever offered to any public. We guarantee it to compare with any $2 grade ever sold in this city.

We have on special sale today, ladies' real lisle thread black hose, 44c., worth 65c.

We have on special sale today, children's solid colored ribbed hose, 8½c., a pair, worth 12½c.

We have on special sale today, ladies' 8-button length chamois skin mousquetaires gloves at 75c. This is one of our rare glove offerings, and they are worth $1.50. On special sale today at half price, 75c.

On special sale today, ladies' muslin corset covers, 15c. each; worth 25c.

On special sale today, ladies' all-wool red merino undershirts, 81; worth $1.25.

On special sale today, children's merino shirts at 25c. each. This is an extra fine grade, being silk bound and stitched with pearl buttons, and well worth 50c. each.

On special sale today, ladies' muslin nightgowns, 85c. each, trimmed with five rows of insertion and tucks; reduced from $1.25.

On special sale today, ladies' four-ply collars, 8½c.; sold by every one at 12½c.

On special sale today, ladies' black boucle Jerseys, 98c.; worth $1.25.

On special sale today, a line of metal dress buttons at 10c. a dozen. This is a new and neat button, being two-toned in its effect; worth 20c. People's Store.

PALM SPRINGS

On South Pacific Railroad, in San Diego County,

50 Miles East of Riverside and San Bernardino; 100 Miles East of Los Angeles.

NO FROST! NO FOGS! NO HEAVY WINDS! 700 FEET ABOVE sea level! A winter paradise! The home of the banana, date and orange. Wild dates ripen in profusion in an adjoining cañon. Only spot in California where frost, fog and wind-storms are absolutely unknown. The earliest season in the State. Best opportunity for men of moderate means. Fruit and vegetable matures a month to six weeks earlier than anywhere else on the Coast. In a sheltered spot at the base of the San Jacinto Mountains lies Palm Valley, famous over the southern part of the State as being the location of the Agua Caliente Springs, whose waters are an absolute specific for rheumatism and a host of other diseases. The soil of the valley is remarkably fertile, and it has been demonstrated that every fruit and vegetable will mature in this favored spot a month or more in advance of any other place. The

MAGNIFICENT WATER SUPPLY,

Derived from the Whitewater River and other sources, and a fine stone canal has just been completed, some eight miles in length, which conveys at all times an abundance of water. For a Sanitarium

No spot in the country offers so many natural advantages as that sightly bench of land in the Duarte commonly known as the

"GEARY RANCH."

There is here found a rare combination of those sanative conditions indispensable to the successful treatment of throat and lung affections. The location is absolutely above the extreme fog limits. The chill of night and early morning hours is tempered by radiated warmth from the mountains that tower behind in close proximity. The heat of day is moderated by the natural conditions insured by an elevated and exposed situation. The magnificent mountains in the rear afford an effectual barrier against north winds, and from their deep ravines an abundant supply of pure spring water is obtained. A background of rugged mountains, a broad expanse of fertile valley below, with a strip of ocean shimmering beyond, combine to form scenery at once grand and beautiful in its diversified loveliness. The site is within a half hour's drive from the railroad station and over an excellent road of easy grade, by groves and vineyards and through a pretty live oak cañon in which not a trace of sand-wash is visible.

This valuable property, comprising in all 140 acres, will be sold as a whole, or a site for a sanitarium or mountain hotel. Can be secured on very advantageous terms, providing the parties will erect thereon buildings of a certain value.

SUMMARY OF NEWS GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

Terrible Accident—The Southern Pacific in Santa Barbara—Sunday Drunks in Riverside—Suicide in San Diego—Santa Ana Darkened.

San Diego.

[Union.]

The Mission Valley Water Company, incorporated a few days ago, has brought suit in the Superior Court against J. S. Harbison, the Junipero Land and Water Company and other owners of about 200 acres of land above the Old San Diego Mission to condemn the property, as the company proposes to build a diverting dam there. The receiving reservoir will, it is estimated, hold 2,000,000,000 gallons, and the company hope to have it in operation before the flume reaches the city. The water will be supplied from the San Diego River, and by means of pumping machinery the company proposes to reach it to a height that will distribute it to any portion of the city.

[Sun.]

A letter received here by a well-known citizen from George W. Watson of Topeka, president of the Bank of Commerce about to be established in this city, contains the following paragraph: "I have just returned from St. Louis. It rained all the week there. San Diego did herself proud at St. Louis. I had the honor to attend the banquet given by Southern California. The fact is that California did more to entertain the Grand Army than St. Louis."

Some of the leading citizens of Oceanside have organized and decided to incorporate under the name of the Oceanside Board of Trade. They have elected the following officers: C. W. Mason, president; F. H. Cunningham, first vice-president; J. U. Hicks, second vice-president; D. H. Horn, third vice-president; T. Edgar Payne, secretary; Edgar S. Payne, treasurer.

J. J. Wilbur committed suicide by hanging, at El Cajon, on the 6th. He was 35 years of age and a native of Palmyra, New York.

[Mercury.]

Articles of incorporation of the Abstract of Title and Insurance Company, of San Diego, have been filed. The purposes of the said corporation are to make and certify abstracts of title to real property and to insure and guarantee the title thereto. The principal place of business will be in the city of San Diego. The company is to exist for the usual fifty years. The capital stock is $100,000, in shares of the par value of $100 each. The directors for the ensuing term are D. C. Reed, H. C. Cooper, G. C. Arnold, C. C. Loomis and C. C. Seaman.

Santa Barbara.

[Press.]

It is probable that the construction of the railroad through Gaviota Pass will take nearly a year. During that time the Southern Pacific will run frequent local trains between Carpenteria and Naples, stopping at all the stations on the way.

Railroad track was laid yesterday as far as the Hope ranch house. Grading is rapidly progressing on the More ranch, and will be completed across the ranch early this week. The graders' camp was yesterday moved from the Hope ranch to a point several miles beyond. The depot grounds at Goleta have finally been located. They include a tract of nearly fifteen acres, over five acres of which were donated by More, six acres by Kellogg and nearly three acres by Baggs. A handsome depot will be erected, and three sidetracks put in.

The Electric Light Company has so many orders for lights on hand that they telegraphed yesterday for ten lamps from Sacramento. They are expected to arrive this week.

The four-mast schooner William F. Kittzemann is still at the wharf, unloading her immense cargo of lumber. She will sail on her return voyage for Puget Sound some time during the week.

A force of men, under the direction of John P. Stearns, are busy at work on the beach at the foot of State street driving piles for the new dock and lumber-yard to be constructed there.

The Southern Pacific Company has finally made definite plans for the various depots in this city. The main station, which will be "Santa Barbara," will be located on the depot grounds between Montecito and Yanonali streets, and the building will be 200 feet long, with all the necessary platform room. It will be known as a "combination station," telegraph office, etc., and will contain all the offices necessary for running the road.

The company has bought a lot 45x60 feet on the corner of Gutierrez and Chapala streets, and will build there a small waiting station, where local trains will stop to receive and discharge passengers.

Another and larger waiting station will also be established on block 112, on Rancheria street, between Victoria and Anapamu streets. This building will be about sixty feet long, and will also be a ticket office, and will be for the convenience of up-town people and of the up-town hotels.

Another station will be established on the Hope ranch, which will be the only one between this city and Goleta. The foundation for the station on the depot grounds has already been laid and the frame will be erected in a few days.

San Bernardino.

[Times.]

Miss Clara Foltz, who has established a national reputation for her ability as a lawyer, has been in our city for a day or two past, and left this morning for her home in San Diego.

The motor which leaves this city every Sunday morning at 7:30 connects at Colton with the Southern Pacific train for Los Angeles, but better known as the Santa Monica excursion train. This train is one of the best on the Southern roads, and is a perfect beauty. It rolls over the plains with little jogging, and after a short run through the semi-tropic valleys of Ontario and San Gabriel one is brought up in Los Angeles at the depot.

One of the most necessary things, which is right and should be enforced, is a regulation of hack fares to and from the depot and other parts of the city, and also that of baggage. There should be a stop put to this overcharge of strangers who come to this city. It is a robbery and an imposition upon people who come here. It should be looked after. Hack hire and baggage carrying should be reduced and some fixed figures made by the City Trustees. The hacks should be numbered and every hackman made to wear a badge.

Riverside.

[Press.]

On Sunday evening, the 9th, the train from San Bernardino came in loaded with—drunks. It was impossible to restrain them, and the cars were a perfect pandemonium. Fortunately there were no ladies on the train to witness the demoniac orgie. As our saloon is closed on Sunday, and those in San Bernardino in full blast, and plenty of them, such a sight will happen on every recurrence of that day. Our marshal ought to be on hand with a large posse and take in as many as he can accommodate, and if the quarters are not large enough for all, further provision should be made for them.

The Index says that Byron Waters, solicitor for defendant, filed in the United States Circuit Court last Friday the answer of the Bear Valley Land and Water Company in the action brought by Isaac L. Hewitt against Warren Story et al. The case involves the right of the major portion of the water supply in the head of the Santa Ana Cañon, and raises the question of riparian owners against appropriators. The answer, of course, is a general denial.

Templeton.

[Times.]

Very satisfactory progress has been made in the construction of the Templeton water works. The powerful Dow pump, boiler and engine have arrived, and the engineer who is to put the machinery up is also here. A pit is being dug for the crib on the river flat at the lower end of Fifth street. The pump will be in order, and the sixty feet of framework for the tank will be completed early next week. Trenches have been dug on Main and Fifth streets for the supply pipe and water mains.

Our genial friend, J. N. Turner, the District Attorney, has, no doubt, done many sensible things in his life, but the most sensible was his marriage, on September 29th, to Mrs. A. M. Dan glada, daughter of J. M. Price of this county. Although in the early prime and vigor of life, our friend Turner had dallied long enough with the illusory dreams of bachelorhood, and it was full time that, in the language of Lord Bacon, he became one of those "who, being married, have given hostages to society." In common with all the press and people of San Luis Obispo county, we offer our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Turner. "May they live long and prosper."

San Buenaventura.

[Free Press.]

The Misses Webster, daughters of L. F. Webster, had a very narrow escape on the 9th. The young ladies were riding in a buggy, when the horse became unmanageable and balked and reared, breaking the shafts of the buggy. The young ladies nimbly and courageously leaped out of the buggy, landing safe and sound on terra firma.

The steam pleasure yacht recently launched at Ballona is called the Bertie. She is described as being thirty-five feet long, seven feet beam, and draws three and a half feet. She has a capacity for twenty-five passengers, and is propelled by a six-horse power engine which uses oil as fuel, consequently there won't be any coal-dust or smoke to annoy the passengers. She is said to have an average speed of ten knots an hour, and to be a thorough sea-going boat. She will be kept at Ballona for the use of visitors.

The name of the Portuguese sailor that was drowned while attempting to descend into a boat from the steamer Eureka was Andrew Camillo. It is about time that steps were taken to prevent this wanton destruction of human life. This is the second event of the kind that has occurred within the last six months. Andrew Camillo leaves a wife and family in San Francisco who will deeply mourn his loss.

Santa Ana.

[Daily Blade.]

We have reliable information that the new bank at Tustin is an assured fact, inasmuch as the necessary papers for a State bank have been drafted and forwarded to the Secretary of State.

Surveyors are at work on the 100-foot avenue through to Newport, and work will be commenced on opening up the various new roads through that country as soon as a sufficient number of men can be secured.

There is considerable probability that the old Layman Hotel building will be removed to a position near the Santa Fé depot, and there used as a hotel. It would seem that there should be money in such an enterprise, too.

A meeting was held at Fairbanks & Co.'s office, at Tustin, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for a general discussion of the new motor road proposed to be built through that place. We trust the citizens of Tustin will not be at all backward in the enterprise.

Santa Ana was treated to a new novelty last evening, but one which she could not appreciate to any great extent. The man who has charge of the gas works got a little too much booze yesterday and before night he couldn't tell a gas factory from a pansy blossom. As a result he neglected to generate the regular amount of gas, and what little there was left in the tank was soon consumed and the city was plunged into almost absolute darkness. The Brunswick was feebly lighted with candles, and probably suffered more inconvenience than any other business house in town, although it was rather rough on everybody. This sort of thing is not very pleasant, and we trust it will not become a regular thing.

San Pedro.
[Clipper.]

Travel by coast steamers, between this port and San Francisco, is increasing very rapidly of late. Eastern visitors, after a long and tedious voyage across the continent by rail, prefer the restful and invigorating sea voyage.

Collector Hinds of this port has made the following appointments of permanent inspectors, to take effect October 12th: James H. Dodson of Wilmington, A. M. Harter of Downey City, J. S. Wallace of Los Angeles, J. C. Maher of Wilmington.

Last Sunday George Tyler, son of Judge Tyler of San Francisco, in company with his wife and sister-in-law, left for Catalina Island in a small boat. Since then no word has been heard from them, and fears are entertained for their safety.

Elsinore.
[News.]

A temporary Catholic Church was erected this week on St. Francis street, in the Hampton addition, by W. E. Hampton. It will be used for the present, and while the projected Catholic Church edifice is in course of erection for mass and other religious services. The first mass ever celebrated in Elsinore will be in this temporary church next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, by the new pastor, Rev. Father Moroney, who was recently appointed to this mission by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Mora, of Los Angeles. While on his Eastern trip lately, Mr. Hampton purchased the necessary vestments and ceremonials, together with the ornaments, etc., etc., peculiar to Catholic altars. Everything will be soon in readiness for the construction of a large Catholic Church. The plans for building an altar have been already secured, and the work will be soon begun.

San Luis Obispo.
[Mirror.]

It is now all assured fact that, upon the issuance of $100,000 in city bonds, San Luis Obispo will be lighted in all parts with electricity, and the bituminous pavement will be put down on all the streets as soon as Col. Waring's system of sewers has been completed.

Too Busy to Look Up.
[Albany Journal.]

A good story is told of a gentleman who recently built an elegant house not far from Albany. He wanted it protected by lightning rods. One day a lightning-rod peddler came along and a bargain was immediately closed with him to place rods upon the house. The gentleman who built the house is engrossed with many cares and spends much of his time away from home. About two months after the rods had been ordered he happened to mention the subject to his wife. "It is very strange," he added, "that the man does not do the work when it is ordered. I have been waiting nearly two months for him, and when he calls again I wish you would tell him that unless he can attend to the business promptly we will get some one else to do the work." The wife, with a twinkle in her eyes, quietly remarked: "My dear, you cannot have looked at the house very sharply. The rods have been on for over five weeks."

Electricity Among the Grapevines.
[Albany Argus.]

A man who lives but a few miles out of Albany protects his grapevines from fruit thieves in a novel manner. The supports are of wood, but the cross-pieces are of wires insulated from the ground, and connected with an induction coil capable of delivering a heavy spark through an inch of air. The other pole of the coil is connected to the ground. Six good-sized bichromate of potash cells furnish electromotive force for the coil. Short wires hanging among the vines are secured to the large wires, and when any one monkeys with the grapevine while the battery is connected the neighborhood is apt to hear from him. It works every time, and no one comes for a second dose.

A Hint for Mr. Cleveland.
[Philadelphia News.]

The President's progress will be watched with sympathetic interest by everybody, in the belief that he will come back to Washington a wiser, if not a better man. He cannot fail to find many new points of contact with the new people, and if he can manage to escape from committees and office-holders now and then, he will get closer still to the people and have moments of real enjoyment. We suspect that he will become so enamored of sight-seeing that instead of going back to Buffalo in 1889 he will sail for Europe and spend a few years abroad. Mr. Blaine could mark out a nice tour for him and will be glad to do it.

An Opportunity Seldom Offered.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company are largely interested in the new town of Santa Fe Springs, at Fulton Wells. Consequently, all the projected improvements will be rapidly pushed until completed. This is the only resort within seventy miles of Los Angeles where first-class medicinal springs are found. It will, therefore, always be filled with health-seekers. The enterprising firm of Byram & Poindexter have secured 200 acres immediately adjoining the best side of this town of Santa Fe Springs, and will sell no town lots at all. They offer it only in blocks of from four to ten acres, at low acre prices, on easy terms. This gives buyers an opportunity to make handsome villa homes or small farms, just beside a railroad depot, handsome new hotel and other extensive improvements. Any purchaser of his property can double his money by subdividing into lots. Call on us for maps and further particulars. Byram & Poindexter, 27 West First street, Los Angeles.

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking meccury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

SAN JACINTO.

A Newcomer's Views—Disappointed at First.

SAN JACINTO, Cal., Oct. 10, 1887.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] I am one of the vast army of people who have recently arrived in California in search of "cheap homes." About a year ago in my search for investigation on the subject I came across a description of the "San Jacinto Valley." With the description was a guarantee by the property owners and business men to pay the expenses of any one from and to any portion of the United States if, upon arrival in the valley, the statements made were found to be false in any particular. Having in former years had an opportunity to visit and spend a good deal of time in several portions of the central and northern part of the State, and being impressed with the description, and especially the guaranty, I, after mature consideration, packed my "grip" and joined the great army of home-seekers, coming on the Central Pacific route. I was surprised at the great changes that have taken place in a few short years from the foot of the Sierras to Los Angeles, and I soon realized that I was a stranger in a strange land. Arriving at your beautiful city I found it had in four years quadrupled in population. In my search for cheap land I found that the sheep pastures of four years ago now have cable lines running through them, and the land is sold by the front foot at prices that make an ordinary individual's head dizzy to contemplate. Though charmed with the "Queen City" and its surroundings, the necessities of the case compelled us to again take up the line of march to a locality that offered better inducements to a person with small means.

Leaving your city on the California Central Railroad, in a few hours I was landed at Perris, eighteen miles from San Jacinto. Arriving at Perris at noon on a warm day, and taking a bird'seye view of the surroundings, my enthusiasm and bright anticipations were decidedly dampened. Securing a seat on the stage by the jehu who guided the four mustangs that propelled the vehicle, I was driven rapidly toward a low range of mountains some ten miles away. The prospect was decidedly unpromising. I plied the knight of the reins with numerous questions about the point of destination, of which he seemed to know but little more than myself. But what he lacked in knowledge of the country he made up in entertaining me with a (to him) very beautiful song of the brave cowboy and beautiful señoritas roaming over the plains.

Reaching the top of the range of hills mentioned, on casting the eye to the north, south and east, I beheld spread out before us Diamond, Pleasant and San Jacinto valleys, all known as San Jacinto Valley, with the San Jacinto peak towering up to the east, 14,000 feet high, like a huge sentinel over the valley at its base. Passing up and across the valley, over eight miles of rich virgin soil, we reached the town of San Jacinto, located between two groves of huge cottonwood trees, comprising some 2000 acres.

The town has from 600 to 800 inhabitants. There are some fifteen brick buildings, a bank, six or eight grocery and dry goods stores, two of hardware and agricultural implements and one drug store, three hotels, two livery stables and the usual number of real-estate offices.

The residents, appreciating the advantages of education, erected a $12,000 brick school building. Some 300 children attend the school, which will compare favorably with the schools throughout the State.

The Methodists have a handsome brick church and a stationed minister. The Congregationalists and Episcopalians are represented but have no church buildings. The town is situated in what is known as the artesian belt, all the water used being supplied by artesian wells, of which there are more than one hundred, which discharge from a few thousand gallons each, to one and a half millions per day. It is surrounded by alfalfa fields and thrifty orchards and vineyards. More anon. RAMBLER.

Congealed Sense.

[San Diegan.]

Shasta has sense. That proposition is proved by the fact that it is about to run excursions from Southern California to Anderson, which is in Shasta county, of course. That is a good move for Shasta and it will prove to be a good move for the visitors to this section who may take in the excursion. It will enable them to appreciate this southern section all the better on their return. Still, we hold that Shasta has sense. Among the many who will go there, a few may be found who are just looking for such a place as Shasta, and to any one who likes Shasta, Shasta is a fine place.

Juarez's Statue.

Benito Juarez is a subject in bronze by San Francisco modelers and molders. The statue is seven feet high, weighs 1100 pounds and cost $6000.

Lamanda Park.

The railway from the Raymond to Lamanda Park, being about to be opened shortly and giving to this desirable and picturesque property exceptional facilities, a further addition has been made to the town lots, which are offered to the public on reasonable terms, also plots to suit the convenience of buyers for villa residences of from one to five or more acres, on the Rose avenue and other desirable situations.

Water provided for domestic purposes on reasonable terms. Plans can be seen and particulars obtained from the owners.

IMPORTANT

—TO—

OWNERS AND BUYERS OF REAL-ESTATE!

THE OFFICIAL CALL LIST

—OF THE—

LOS ANGELES

Real-Estate and Stock Exchange

—IS ISSUED DAILY—

For Free Circulation.

The CALL LIST contains descriptions of improved and unimproved real-estate and securities listed by authority, and offered for sale to bidders willing to pay a fair market price. These properties are bought or sold only on commission by responsible real-estate brokers, bound by the rules and regulations of the Exchange to protect their customers against misrepresentation, fraudulent or defective titles, extortion in prices, and the thousand and one tricks of unscrupulous and irresponsible dealers.

The principal function of the Exchange is to establish and maintain real-estate values in the mutual interest of both buyer and seller. This can only be accomplished by actually closing transactions in open session of the Exchange and making a public record of the bids, of the prices asked by holders, and of the sales, by which means stability is given to the real-estate market, and the fullest protection is extended to all parties concerned.

Those who have property for sale, listed on the Exchange, are guaranteed the full market value of their real-estate, of which they have no assurance without the facilities which a well-regulated Exchange always affords to investors.

Intending buyers are secured against extortion, by the daily publication of the Real-Estate Exchange quotations on all classes of property, without which information they are frequently induced to pay far more than the actual market value of the property purchased.

The rules and regulations and blank forms of the Los Angeles Real-Estate and Stock Exchange have been copyrighted, and all persons infringing such copyrights will be proceeded against according to law.

The lobby of the Board Room, at No. 15½ South Spring street, next to the Nadeau House, is free to the public. Two sessions of the Exchange are held daily, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. and 3 o'clock p.m.

The Official Call List is distributed free by the Exchange messengers, or can be had free on application to the Secretary, at the office of the Exchange, No. 15½ South Spring street, or to any member of the Exchange, to whom all intending investors or home-seekers are respectfully referred for full, accurate and reliable information as to values, terms and conditions of sale and all other details relating to the properties duly listed on the Exchange.

A GOOD OPINION OF "THE TIMES"—NEWS NOTES.

SAN GABRIEL, Oct. 11.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] People here, regardless of political predilections, recognize your enterprise in "catching on" to the news, and they are very much surprised and disappointed when you get left by the mail, as happened several days last week. If you have not done so already, you should investigate this matter and ascertain how it is that your subscribers in this locality should be put to such inconvenience. Some may say, "Blank THE TIMES! If it cannot see to it that its subscribers are properly served, then let them take some paper that will." But where's the use? Just as well get no paper at all as get one that contains no news. If you get a newspaper such as THE TIMES even two or three times a week you are that much ahead. For a fact, I can rarely see any news in even the most enterprising of the San Francisco dailies any more. By the time the San Francisco papers get here the news they contain is already stale to the readers of THE TIMES.

Rev. Joaquin Bot started on Friday morning last, via the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, on his European trip. He expects to be gone about twelve months and to visit the Eternal City, as well as the principal countries of Europe before his return. He will be apt to find many changes in his old home since he left there twenty-seven years ago.

Rev. Bernard Smith of Los Angeles has been appointed by Bishop Mora to take charge of this parish during the absence of Father Bot. Father Smith is no stranger here, as four years ago he acted as Assistant Pastor at this place, when he endeared himself to all who had the pleasure of making his acquaintance.

We had quite a wind storm here on Friday from the northwest. It is supposed, not unnaturally, to have been caused by the Pasadena real-estate men. At all events it blew from that direction, and had a tendency to elevate Pasadena real estate. We saw some of it elevated so high as to be far above the tops of the trees and houses. Further, the movement in Pasadena real estate was lively in the extreme on that day. It blew "big guns" off and on during the day—a very unusual occurrence for this locality. When the wind went down the weather became uncommonly hot and dry. Yesterday was more pleasant by far, with indications of rain. Last evening at 7 o'clock it began to rain gently, and this morning your correspondent's rain gauge indicated a precipitation of fifteen-hundredths of an inch. Today the weather is extremely pleasant though cloudy.

There was quite an exodus from this place yesterday to attend the circus at Los Angeles. I guess the circus folks scooped in considerable filthy lucre. But then a first-class show doesn't exhibit every day, even in Los Angeles.

There was a young row down town Sunday night, but our active and efficient constables quickly got on top of it by arresting five of the disturbers. Law-breakers have very little show here under the administration of Messrs. Fuller and De la Osa.

Last night's rain has cooled off the air and laid the dust nicely, making driving pleasant.

After an absence of eleven days, Godfrey Heslope returned on Friday evening from his hunting trip to the mountains. The quail, deer and mountain trout suffered fearfully, but the grizzlies were more prudent, and kept out of range of Godfrey's death dealing rifle. The boys were quite tired, in fact, almost completely worn out when they got home, and no wonder, if half they tell be true, which, of course, it is just about half. They brought home two deer and about eighty trout, as proof positive that they had been hunting and not loafing around the cañons.

L. J. Rose has removed with his family to Los Angeles.

Dr. R. H. Shoemaker was married yesterday at the Church of Our Savior to Miss Dye of Pasadena.

There were a few light showers here today. This evening the upper part of "Old Baldy" is clothed in white.

Azusa.

THE NEW TOWN THAT BEATS 'EM ALL.

AZUSA, Oct. 3.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Not having seen anything recently in THE TIMES in regard to the progress of Azusa, will send you a few lines in answer to inquiries of this booming town. No town of the same age in Southern California has shown such rapid growth, not even the phenomenal town of Monrovia, where property has gone from $100 per lot to $6000 in little over a year. The new pamphlets describing Monrovia speak of it being in a "Sun Kissed Vale," which is a distinction that can hardly be accredited to Monrovia, but it is not the purpose of this letter to describe Monrovia, only I want to say that some of the claims of that town are decidedly enjoyed by Azusa, and we think the sun kisses sweet Azusa as often as he does her neighbors, for Monrovia is only about six miles from Azusa. We can assure people that the gallant sun holds the greater part of this whole valley in his embrace nearly every day in the year and showers upon fond Monrovia, gentle Duarte and the fair maiden Azusa his prolonged and enraptured kisses.

The inference at first that the stranger would get upon coming here was that the company expected to get rich selling town lots to saloon keepers, but the company has recently taken larger and more exalted views of the grand possibilities open to them. A six-thousand dollar church is now under contemplation by the company, a church is assured, and in the near future, as services are now held every two weeks in the Genesee Hotel and the attendance is increasing.

The public school opened about two weeks ago under the able management of Mrs. Hahle from San Francisco and now the attendance has increased to nearly fifty pupils—a pretty good showing for a town where there was not a single building on the first of last April.

Since the assurance of the building of the railroad through the San Gabriel Cañon—making the Azusa a railroad centre, real estate has been very active and is rapidly advancing in value. Strangers are coming into town every day looking after lots—buyers coming even from Arizona and Kansas, for the fame of this young city has already reached many parts of the East. All that is needed to make this the best town in the State for investment is a little more comprehensive idea of its needs by the Land & Water Company, under whose auspices the town was commenced. To be sure they have inaugurated some very substantial improvements, as the laying of concrete sidewalks and putting in sewers. At the same time some donation of lots and money for school purposes would be a most desirable thing.

Respectfully,
UNCLE JONATHAN.

HOUSES SCARCE AND BUSINESS RUSHING.

ORANGE, Oct. 13.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Carpenters and builders are rushed with work.

Houses for rent are at a premium and the demand is increasing.

Mrs. J. S. Baldwin of Pasadena has been visiting her sick father, Mr. Foster, for some days past.

There were no services at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor, the Rev. A. Parker, at the synod in Oakland.

Strangers are seen here, there and everywhere, and the smiling, more than satisfied faces on every side show that they realize that "the half has never been told."

Mr. and Mrs. Spring of Montecito, Santa Barbara county, are, for the first time, in this beautiful valley, taking in its fine sights, and comparing Los Angeles county, its advantages and improvements with far-famed Santa Barbara and vicinity.

Our bachelor friend Mr. Frank Collins last Tuesday, finding that it was not good that the man should be alone, took Miss Hardy for "an helpmeet for him." Their hosts of friends extend hearty congratulations.

Fine purifying breezes, called "Santa Ana winds," made things lively last Friday, and Monday evening a fine rain laid the dust. Since that time we have had occasional showers.

The adjourned water meeting held on the 11th, resulted in the election of Messrs. Cauldwell, Guthrie, Podoff, Watson and Baker.

The McPherson store, telegraph office and postoffice have changed hands. Mr. Lane retiring and Messrs. Elam and Sweetzer taking the place. A new stock of goods will be filled in at once, and the young men propose to make things rustle.

FITTINGS AND FURNITURE OF THE NEW POSTOFFICE.

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 11.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] In conjunction with the balance of the county we had a norther last Friday. It being fish day, however, we were enabled to concoct a scaly story of its being something "very unusual," for the delectation of newcomers among us.

The new fittings and furnitare for the postoffice have arrived, and are set up in good working order. The woodwork is black walnut, highly polished, ornamented with brass and nickel trimmings. There are thirty lock drawers, 208 lock boxes and 104 call boxes. The general delivery and money order departments are handsomely appointed, making altogether as handsome and convenient an office as can be found in the county.

A party of eight leading citizens from our town, headed by J. de Barth Shorb, are on a pilgrimage to Arizona. Judging from the somber appearance of the firmament in that direction, coupled with the fact that they took no umbrellas with them, suggest the thought that they are undoubtedly ere this posing as the "Innocents abroad."

The light fall of rain last night and today has in no way injured the grapes still ungathered. There has been much delay and annoyance this year in picking the crop on account of scarcity of labor. The yield of wine grapes in our vineyards is unusually heavy, every bunch being perfect and well filled out.

Many of the heads of families took their little ones into the circus yesterday. Those that had no children borrowed for the occasion.

Both trains coming out from Los Angeles last evening were loaded with students of natural history, a goodly share stopping off at Alhambra.

YUSUF.

We notice that the sales of the Raymond Improvement Company in their Division No. 1 have been so rapid that they have been obliged to subdivide more land to accommodate buyers. To this end they have placed on the market their Division No. 2, located in the southeasterly portion of their tract and in front of the Raymond Hotel. They offer some 500 feet frontage on Garfield avenue at low prices. Everyone at all familiar with that section knows that this avenue, already the principal drive from Alhambra to Raymond Station, over two miles long and seventy feet wide, will within the near future be thickly settled its entire length. The street cars are already running from Alhambra northward, and rails enough to complete the road to Raymond will arrive in a few days and at once be laid. Call on W. G. Hughes, Secretary, Room 9, Los Angeles National Bank Building, corner First and Spring streets.

Important Notice.

Arrangements have been made to run a hack from Main and Spring streets to the Sisters' Hospital, where it will make connection with the dummy running to Ivanhoe. Parties wanting to procure tickets can get them at Byram & Poindexter's, No. 27 West First street.

Churches and schools at Rosecrans. The Motor road to Rosecrans, is now building and will be running October 25, 1887. Buy your lots at once.

Such an opportunity is seldom offered. The soil is a rich alluvial deposit twenty feet depth. Drainage perfect, being gentle slope to the river.

All Under Los Angeles Irrigating Ditch.

Well water at any depth from four to thirty feet from surface. This tract lies in the FINEST SCENERY IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY, having the towns of Glendale and Verdugo and the Sierra Madre Mountains in front, and the lovely evergreen Los Felis range of mountains rising 1300 feet from the tract at the rear, with the Los Angeles river running immediately between, making this a PERFECT AMPHITHEATER OF RURAL BEAUTY. The OSTRICH FARM RAILROAD is now running to the tract. Trains run into the city in twenty minutes and as often as necessary. The OSTRICH FARM will continue to be the attractive feature of this locality, and the ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS are now being added to and laid out in a style which will make this THE MOST ATTRACTIVE RESORT IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. This tract is three miles nearer Los Angeles than Burbank and two miles from Ivanhoe.

LA PRESA!

The Beautiful Swiss Village on Lake Como

BEING REPRODUCED IN SAN DIEGO.

The most novel thing yet undertaken in the development of this southern country is now being done at LA PRESA, nine miles from San Diego. The plan is to reproduce in that delightful spot the counterpart of the celebrated Swiss village on Lake Como, in Northern Italy. To this end a railroad is being built to the place, and a fine modern hotel is to be erected at once. The situation is most delightful; far enough removed from the sea to escape rough winds, yet near enough to be always cool. With pure water, fine scenery, and the best of soil, LA PRESA is just the place to invest for a quick turn with big profits LA PRESA is sure to grow rapidly, as it has all the elements to attract a select class of settlers.
